Background and aims of the program

The political, economic and cultural relations between Europe and China have been growing substantially over the last few years. We consider it equally important to involve the level of civil society of in this process of providing solutions for global issues.

To develop sustainable partnerships and cooperation between non-governmental or non-profit organizations and think tanks from Europe and China the Stiftung Asienhaus in cooperation with CAN Europe/CANGO/CCAN in 2015 organizes the EU-China NGO Twinning exchange program. The program is supported by Robert Bosch Stiftung and Stiftung Mercator.

This program gives European and Chinese NGO staff the opportunity to work and study in a Chinese or European organization for 4 to 8 weeks.

The program comprises two thematic areas for cooperation:

Environmental and social justice (lead by Stiftung Asienhaus)

The program will accept 14 (seven European and seven Chinese) participants representing organizations from all thematic areas dealing with environmental and social justice (for examples of issue areas of past exchange participants please view: <http://www.eu-china-twinning.org/2014-twinner/>).

Climate Change & Low-carbon Development (lead by CAN Europe & CANGO)

In addition, the program will accept 10 (five European and five Chinese) participants representing organizations focusing on climate change and low-carbon development. Examples of issue areas associated with the climate change theme:

- Renewable Energy
- Energy Efficiency
- National/International climate policy
- Fossil fuels – coal, oil, gas
- Climate change adaptation
- Carbon pricing and the emissions trading scheme
- Climate finance

Exchange structure

- The program is designed as a twinning exchange, i.e. two organizations working on similar thematic issues exchange a member of their staff. Participants will be able to work part time for their own organization during the exchange period
- The exchange cost will be covered by a scholarship. It includes international return flight, visa, basic travel insurance and workshop participation as well as a living allowance for accommodation, local transport and daily expenses. The living allowance is 40 EUR per day; the total amount disbursed to each participant is calculated according to the number of days he or she spends abroad as part of the exchange.

Please note: Each participating organization is asked to contribute a participation fee of 100 EUR or 800 RMB. This is to ensure commitment to the program and to facilitate any unexpected activities that are not foreseen in the budget. This fee should be submitted within two weeks of confirming participation in the program.

Timeline

- 15th of August to 15th of October 2015: Exchange period for European participants in Chinese partner organizations for a period of 4 – 8 weeks
- First week of September 2015: 2-day thematic workshop in China
- 10th of October to 10th of December 2015: Exchange period for Chinese participants in European partner organizations for a period of 4 – 8 weeks
- First week of November 2015: 2-day thematic workshop in Europe

Please note: Participation in both workshops is mandatory. Applying participants should therefore make sure they are available during the time period stated above.

The participants will be provided with

- Exchange preparation
- thematic trainings/capacity building seminars on topics relevant for their work, e.g. political and societal backgrounds of and civil society development in the respective region (participants can use the exchange opportunity to engage in activities around the COP21 in Paris, November 30 – December 11).¹

¹ Participation in the COP itself requires UN accreditation through a formal system. However, numerous activities will take place across Paris during the COP so organizations will have the option to take part.
